

ONE SMALL STEP

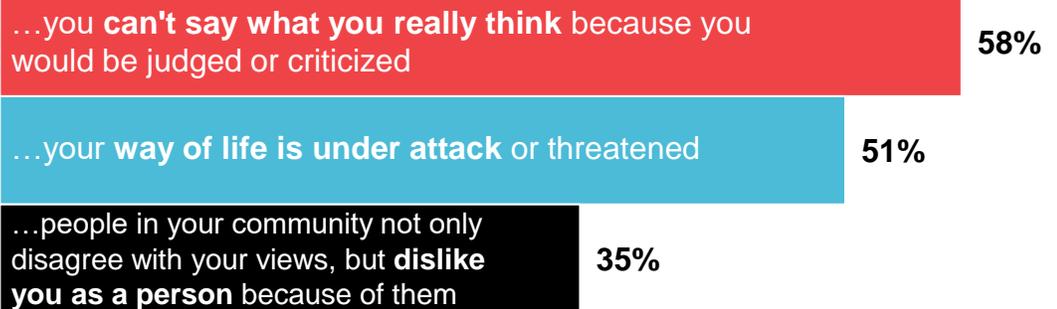

4 Things to know about Wichita and One Small Step

1. Wichitans are feeling the consequences of division and contempt. Most Wichitans have felt “under attack” multiple times in the past year and more than a third have felt that people in the community with different views not only disagree with them, but dislike them personally.
2. More than 1 in 3 say their personal relationships have been harmed by political disagreements in the past year and nearly half of both Democrats and Republicans say “it’s hard for me to think of [the other party] as mostly good people.”
3. Nearly 2 in 3 say the city is more divided now than at any point in their lifetime.
4. But there is also hope: nearly all agree we can learn to be better people by listening to others and 75% are eager to learn how people who aren’t like them think and feel. That’s where One Small Step comes in.

In the past year how often you have felt...

Showing % who say multiple times

Over the past year, how often do you think political disagreements harmed your personal relationships with other people in your city?

12% many times
25% a few times
27% once or twice
36% never

“It’s hard for me to think of Republicans/Democrats as mostly good people given their values and the policies they support”

47% of Democrats 45% of Republicans

% Agree with each statement

My city is more divided right now than it has been in my lifetime 61%

We can learn how to be better people by looking to the experiences of others. 89%
I wish I better understood how people who aren't like me think and feel. 75%